Here's lickin' at you, kid. These may be the dog days of summer, but horses can have their days too. This past week 'What A Load I Am' carried Bill Dale along with other members of the Ontario Trail Riders Association on an investigative tour of Anson Township. To find out what they were looking for, please turn to page five.

Group honours Morgan Loucks

A long-time resident of the community, Morgan Loucks, has been honoured with a life membership in the Canning Lake Property Owners Association.

The presentation was made July 13 at the group's annual meeting of at the home of Bill Riddell. The presentation was made by association president Jim Mitchell.

The president told the gathering that the Loucks family had lived in the Canning Lake area since 1868, providing Mr. Loucks with, "A wealth of history about the Canning Lake area."

Mitchell noted that among the many duties Morgan had performed for the association, was the testing of the lake water for pollution. He related that just two weeks prior to the meeting, Morgan was out in his boat completing the Secchi Disc test which determines the clarity of the water. Increased murkiness can indicate a decrease in water quality.

The president also paid

Lightning destroys Allsaw home

Lightning is being blamed for a fire that destroyed a two story house on Highway 121 at Allsaw last Saturday. The family of six escaped without injury. The house was struck some time before three in the morning by what Anson, Hindon and Minden fire chief Don Booth believes to have been a very powerful bolt of lightning.

Damage is estimated at $55,000. The family of George Johnson was renting the house at the time from a Mr. Speaker of Mississauga. The Johnson family lost all their clothes and furniture. Booth said the house was badly hit but suggested that if his men had been alerted sooner, "we might have had a fighting chance."

"Mr. Johnson drove for about a mile before he found a place with a telephone and it took about ten minutes before he found our number. Everybody had just thrown their phone books out and he had to ring many times before the operator answered.

"It was about 16 minutes between the time we were called and when we arrived. If you add another ten or fifteen to that, it's a long time. If we'd been there fifteen minutes sooner, I think we'd have had a fighting chance."

"We attacked it pretty hard, but when they're burning that badly inside, you have so much inner heat that it takes a lot more than water to put it out. We did use chemical on it, but it was so hot that everything just evaporated."

Booth said it was the second time in 15 years the fire department has had to fight a lightning blaze at that site.

Marilyn Huck is taking up a collection of clothes and furniture for the Johnsons at her house on the Bethel Church Road. Her telephone number is 286-1885.

Members of the Johnson family include: two boys size 12, one boy size 15 top and size 34 pant; one girl size 12; a man size 36 and a woman, size 12.

Charges relating to the accident are pending, according to the Minden OPP. The accident was investigated by Constable Brad Burkholder.

Driver injured

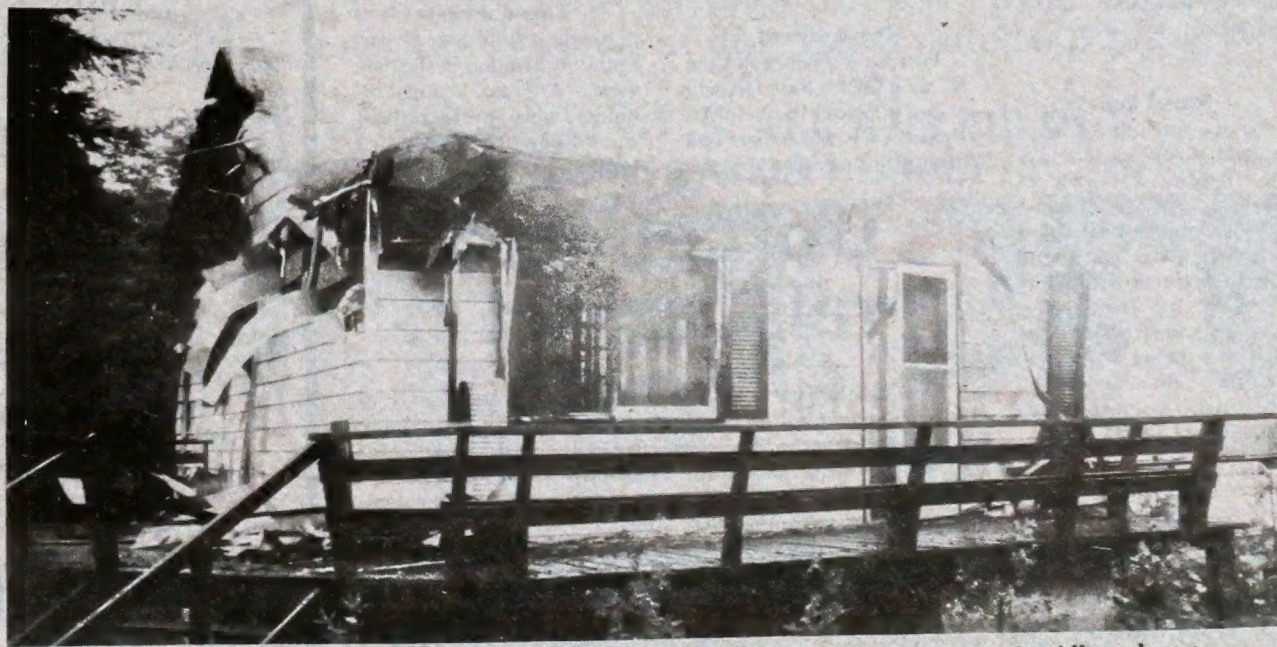

An Etobicoke woman was treated at Minden hospital and released after her car skidded off Highway 35 at Miners Bay and rolled over last Wednesday morning. Injured was Mary Lou Foster, age 19. The car

A head-on collision between two cars late Saturday night has left two men dead.

The accident occurred shortly after 1:30 a.m. on the northbound lane of Highway 121, 4.4 km south on Highway 35. Dead are Paul Thompson, aged 27 of Bobcaygeon who was driving one of the vehicles and Henry Schroeder, age 50 of Hamilton, a passenger in the second vehicle.

Two people were also injured in the wreck. The driver of the second vehicle, 29 year old Joseph Micallef of Kinmount, received injuries to the leg, chest and head. His passenger, 26 year

Rotary Carnival set for Saturday

Members of the Rotary Club of Minden are gearing up for their annual Summer Carnival, hopeful that several major changes introduced this year will help to breathe new life into the festival.

Chairman of the 1986 event, Paul Sisson, explained that the club has moved its celebration from mid-week to Saturday. "We thought we would try a one day carnival, instead of the Wednesday-Thursday schedule as in the past," Sisson said. "Hopefully by concentrating our efforts on the single day, we'll be able to generate the same interest and enthusiasm, as well as financial return." He noted that all money raised during the carnival will be used for community projects supported by the club.

The theme for this year's event is the Caribbean, which ties in with the lottery taking place in conjunction with the carnival. One ticket of a maximum 2000 will be selected Saturday night with the winner receiving a cruise for two through the islands (to a maximum of $4500). The winner can claim a $3500 cash value in lieu of the trip.

The carnival officially gets underway at noon with a parade through Minden's downtown to the arena. Entries from lodges, resorts, camps, families, businesses and individuals are being encouraged. Cash prizes will be awarded for various categories.

At the arena, carnival goers will be able to watch a firemen's competition in which members of various area brigades battle for the cup. Organized with the assistance of the Minden Fire Department, the competition should provide some interesting hosesquirting fun.

Inside, Rotarians will be behind the counters at games of fun, skill and chance. There will be something for everyone, including a prize every time fish pond for the children and the familiar Crown and Anchor wheel. A number of interesting variations in carnival games is also being offered this year.

Visitors to the arena should also be impressed with the decorations for this year's carnival. Using the island theme, participants will find themselves under a blue Caribbean sky, framed by majestic palm trees and theme decorations.

There will be live entertainment during the afternoon. The licenced area will open at 3 p.m.

The games and food concessions continue into the evening. At 8 p.m. the traditional dance gets underway with music being provided by the Laurentian Valley Boys of North Bay. During the dance, the draw for the trip to the Caribbean will take place.

The fun doesn't end Saturday evening however. As a special added attraction this year, the club is hosting a "monster" bingo Sunday evening. The big prize is $1000 cash. In total some $1700 in prizes will be given out. Bingo chairman Garth Gammon is excited about this addition to the carnival. "It is something our regular bingo players have been asking for," he commented. "We think the big prize and special evening will be a real attraction for those who enjoy playing bingo." The doors open at 6 p.m. with the first game starting at 7:30 p.m.

Carnival chairman Paul Sisson agrees, adding "I hope as many people as possible join us for the fun on Saturday and Sunday. We hope to make this holiday weekend a memorable one for everyone concerned."

Life membership

tribute to Mr. Loucks for his interest in municipal affairs, noting his regular reports to the association helped to keep members abreast of major issues before the township council.

He also paid tribute to Morgan's sense of humour. Mitchell said that an association meeting was never complete until Mr. Loucks had lived the proceedings with a few of his humorous tales. His penchant for telling jokes is also well known in the community. At the township Christmas party, he can usually be relied on to share a few amusing anecdotes.

"Morgan has always gone above and beyond the call of duty," Mitchell commented, "with such willingness and joy of life that causes us to present him with a Life Membership Award." Those in attendance at the meeting greeted the announcement of the award with hearty applause.

During the meeting, a number of issues were discussed by the membership. Snowdon Deputy Reeve Dwain Wruth was in attendance to answer questions from property owners in his municipality.

The members noted the passing of two long-standing directors of the association, Ron Parker and John Lytle.

The meeting was told that the cottage number system is currently being instituted, to assist emergency services in finding cottages. The number plaques are being erected this summer.

Members of the association are also being polled by the executive with a questionnaire to determine the effectiveness of the organizations.

A report on leachate from the Ingoldsby dump was given by Ken Williamson. He said that a study by the Ministry of Environment indicated there was no reason to be concerned. The Ministry also suggested that testing of the dump every two years appeared to be adequate.

The guest speaker for the morning meeting was the executive director of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers Association, Bert Shingler. He reviewed the activities of the organizations and informed the property owners why they should continue their membership in the blanket organization.

The gathering was also reminded of the organization's annual fun day which is scheduled for August 2.

Prior to the adjournment, the members endorsed the report of the nominating committee. Members of the executive for the coming year include: president Jim Mitchell; vice president Ken Williamson; secretary Gary Kapac; treasurer Bruce Farmer. Directors include, Dale DeAth, June Jefford, Dave Jefford, Morgan Loucks, Wes Lytle, Ed Ransdale, Bill Riddell, Jack Robson, Don Russell and Roger Mole.

received $4000 in damage.

The investigating officer was Constable Gary Chapman.

Wheel lost

No one was injured in an accident involving two cars on Highway 121 east of Haliburton on Monday, July 21. John R. Packard of Haliburton was eastbound in a 1976 Chevrolet pickup when the left front wheel came off and struck the side of a car being driven by Andrew Breiteneder of Toronto. Damage was estimated at $1000.

Roll over

18-year-old Devon A. Greig of Georgetown was not injured but received $1,000 in damage to his car last Wednesday morning when it left the road and rolled over near Sir Sam's Inn.

Constable Dave MacMartin was the investigating officer.

Driver award

This week's winner of the Minden OPP's Safe Driving award is Walter Palmer. Mr. Palmer was observed driving in a very courteous manner in Haliburton Village by Cecil Winter of Haliburton.

Found money

A quantity of money was found in Minden in the past week. Anyone losing this money who can identify it should contact the Minden OPP.

Dorset acid rain report

During the past week, only one precipitation event was recorded at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset. The information gathered at the station is compiled by Environment Canada for these weekly reports.

- the only rainfall occurred July 25 when 34 millimeters of rain was reported. The pH of the rain was 4.4 with the course of the storm being traced from Southern and Central Ontario.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less is considered serious. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Hawk Lake property owners displeased with fluctuations in water levels

The property owners on Little and Big Hawk Lakes are not pleased with the way their water level is managed and they made a point of letting the representative of the Haliburton office of the Trent Severn Waterway System know about their feelings Sunday morning.

The occasion was the annual meeting of the Hawk Lake/Hall's Lake Property Owners' Association at Camp Kawabi on Little Hawk Lake. Mike Jamieson is the acting director for the system in the county. He described how the federal agency uses a number of factors to determine the flow of lakes in the region. Jamieson said the water from Gull River watershed is managed to provide for vessel navigation, ensure adequate water quality, mitigate against flooding, provide for hydro electric generation, recreational purposes and preservation of fish habitat.

He noted that federal control of the reservoir lakes dates back to the 1930's.

After lake depth readings are taken at the beginning of each week, the information is compiled and digested by a computer in Peterborough which then provides the six Highlands employees working in three teams, with the necessary information to adjust the flows at the dams. "The computer tells us what flow will equalize the percentage capacity in each lake and maintain suitable vessel navigation. The system works, and that is why we continue to use it," he told the meeting.

The members of the association, particularly those from the two Hawk Lakes, did not agree that the system was working. The members expressed concern that their lakes can drop up to ten feet in a season, while other lakes in the system only notice a one or two foot decline over the summer. "We spend half the summer working on our docks," one member of the audience commented.

The system spokesman was unable to answer the specific enquiries of the property owners at the meeting, although he did promise to provide written answers to their detailed questions. When a comparison was made between the water levels in Boshkung Lake and the Hawks, Jamieson noted that the level in Boshkung is maintained to provide for hydro electric generation at the Minden power station.

The members appeared to be less than convinced that water resources in the system were being tapped in an equitable manner and that their lakes in particular, seemed to be ones used first to maintain water flows downstream. Several members of the audience nodded knowingly as the discussion ensued, commenting that the questions had been asked many times before with the same answers being offered many Members of the Hawk/Hall's lakes property owners association met Sunday at Camp Kawabi and discussed a number of issues including water levels on the Gull River system.

Friday night rains set Minden record

The heavy rain that fell on the village of Minden between the hours of five o'clock last Friday afternoon and eleven o'clock Saturday morning, was, according to weather observer Phil Graham, "the most I've ever recorded in a single storm since I started this job in 1947." 99.8 mm (about 4 inches) of rain fell on Minden last week.

The average rainfall for the whole month of July, Mr. Graham said, is about 100 millimetres.

The rain caused considerable road damage all over Haliburton County. "Numerous roads have been washed out everywhere," said Clayton Cameron, roads superintendent for Anson, Hindon and Minden. One of the worst hit, he remarked, was the Bingham Road near the Scotch Line. "We had to dump four loads of gravel to fix it."

Jim Elstone, grounds manager at PineStone Inn, said the damage at the resort golf course was minimal. "Some sand traps were washed out and a few of the foot bridges were shifted from their foundations, but if the rain had kept up, we'd be in much worse shape."

Mr. Graham said that though the rain was heavy all over the county, many areas received half as much rain as Minden, which was worst hit.

In reference to the article of July 2, 1986 concerning the use of herbicides by Ontario Hydro in the Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden, I would like to clarify several points about our brush control program.

- The Provincial Government in 1979 restricted the public use of 2,4, 5-T. Since then a permit has been required. At that time, Ontario Hydro discontinued the application of 2,4,5,T due to the public controversy over its use.

- 2,4-D has never been found to contain the dioxin, TCDD.

The use of some ester compounds of 2,4-D were discontinued or phased out in 1981, however, NO herbicide used by Ontario Hydro was banned at that time.

- In 1983, the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia reviewed testimony from national and international scientists and experts concerning a class action suit against a forest company involved in aerial spraying of timber resources with a mixture of 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T. Volumes of evidence from both sides of the issue were exhaustively examined and the decision resulting indicated that the use of 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T can be carried out in safety and without risk to the health of the

Key people

In the past few years in Haliburton County, there has been a number of progressive changes in the cottage and shoreline property owners associations. These changes, we feel have all been for the better.

There are few recreational areas in the county where a property owners association, in one form or another, does not exist. Most were founded to enhance the social climate of the cottage community. And these groups continue to serve this purpose, providing as a focus for regattas, community picnics and dances. (In an increasingly mobile world, where families are likely to change city residences a number of times in a generation, the permanence of the cottage and cottage neighbours, takes on an increasingly important role.)

The most recent changes, however, have been noted in the increased prominence these associations have played in the political life of the community. The groups have taken a growing interest in the election process, ensuring their members are aware of the candidates, platforms and voting dates. They have also led the community in concern for the resource they have come to cherish and enjoy, the water that laps outside the front door of their vacation home. The associations represent a strong voice in lobbying for solutions to the acid rain problem. They have also, for the most part, been the first line of defense in protecting their lake or river from pollution from upstream sources or from fellow property owners.

In the past few years, the associations have pressed their case at the municipal and provincial levels, often successfully. We have not always agreed with the stands taken by the associations, but we have never questioned their sincerity, dedication and interest in their cause. The groups have become an important part of the municipal political scene, earning the ear and respect of politicians in most jurisdictions.

One of the reasons these organizations have been able to achieve this political maturity, is the hard work of key members within their groups. The property owners of Canning Lake recently paid tribute to an outstanding member of their organization, Morgan Loucks. He was presented with a life membership in the association to recognize his many years of hard work and interest in matters affecting Canning Lake.

As some residents of the community will know, Morgan's involvement in the local scene extends beyond the interests of the lake. He is an active member of the township's planning committee and regularly monitors the actions of the municipal council for his association. Morgan is fortunate, in that he is a permanent resident and therefore can maintain a close watch on the local scene. However, he also serves as a valuable link between the members of the Canning Lake Association and the community which they share.

His interest in the future of the association and in the community beyond Canning Lake provides an excellent example for all those from various associations intent on becoming involved.

There are many other such key people in associations in the Highlands. They serve their associations well by leading them in particular issues, or simply providing continuity and leadership through the years. In the number of association meetings we have attended in the past few weeks we have seen a growing awareness of the responsibility these organizations have to their members and the community in which they are located. We feel this can only bode well for the future of the organizations and the community in general.

Games involve many volunteers

- by John Eakins, MPP -

As Minister of Tourism and Recreation, I have had the honour and pleasure of meeting some of Canada's great athletes. Canadians such as Shawn O'Sullivan, Ben Johnson and Todd Brooker are just a few of the athletes I have come to admire not only for their accomplishments in sports, but also for their contributions to their province.

Last week the people of Peterborough and the surrounding area had the opportunity to meet athletes who may not be well known, but demonstrated as much enthusiasm and dedication as any Olympic athlete. During four days of competition, participants from throughout Ontario took part in the Ontario Summer Games held in that city.

What was particularly encouraging about these games was the level of community involvement in making the games a success.

Hundreds of hours of volunteer time was needed to stage such a large event. It is this commitment by volunteers which is crucial to any community event. Any project, fundraiser or celebration is dependent on the spirit and co-operation of people in the community.

The Ontario Summer Games were successful because people from all parts of the community sponsored the games. This competition is important because it represents the provincial championships for the 15 sports involved. In addition, some of the competitors will reach the pinnacle of their athletic careers at the games. Other athletes will go on to the Canada Games to defend Ontario's provincial banner while still others may even evolve into the elite athletes who will compete internationally.

While I have met many outstanding citizens and athletes during the past year, one comment often repeated is that the athletes feel they have matured and grown because of their involvement in sports. It is this growth and spirit we should encourage in our own communities.

Riders survey Anson trails

Ten dusty but satisfied horse riders returned to the Bennett farm outside Minden on Friday after carrying out a week-long tour of inspection in Anson Township.

The riders are all members of OTRA, the Ontario Trail Riders Association. They range in age from the low thirties to 65 but all were invited on this special trip because of their tremendous experience in the tricky art of following a backwoods trail.

Jim Blow, the expedition's leader and a rider since he was two, described his party as "guinea pigs", who investigate hitherto unknown tracks, trails and snowmobile routes for their horse-riding potential. "We're that part of OTRA that does research and evaluation," he explained. "All of us take a week out of our holidays each summer for this."

The riders were hosted for the week by Sue Bennett, a Minden resident and owner of four horses. This year's goal was to investigate a section of an old logging road, the Nesbitt Trail, lying on Crown land within Anson Township. Stretching from Moore Falls north to Ox Narrows, the Nesbitt Trail has long been popular with snowmobilers.

The party set out on July 18 and followed the Scotch Line Road westward until it met up with the Hydro line hilly though with very few large hills. Ontario residents ranging from Claremont in the south to north of Huntsville, they were equally impressed by the degree of wilderness to be found in the township.

"It's beautiful, rolling country," said Jim Blow.

Numerous difficulties will have to be solved before the Nesbitt Trail can be made public and added to Ontario's growing network Association. The law also provides for hunt camp operators to post the exact location of the camp in the cabin window. There are at least two or three hunt camps along the Nesbitt Trail.

Another difficulty is trail maintenance, including the removal of litter from the area. If the Nesbitt becomes an all-purpose recreation trail, as the OTRA riders hope it will, cost-sharing agreements with the other recreational clubs will have to be made.

Litter is an important consideration where horses are used, as another rider, Welland resident John Kindt, explained. "We're very conscious of broken bottles and rusty cans because one piece could cripple a horse. Their feet are very vulnerable."

Popularity growing

The popularity of trail riding in Ontario continues to grow. A good indication of the heights it has attained is the fact that OTRA was begun only sixteen years ago, its original purpose being to preserve a greatly reduced number of horse trails already being used. OTRA eventually went on to explore new, prospective trails. In 1977 the organization arrived at the present system of small-group reconnaissance.

Large trail networks have now been consolidated in many parts of southern Ontario - in Huronia, Algonquin Park and the Great Pine Ridge area north of Lake Ontario. Sue Bennett recently spent a

Such an observation underlines that fact that recreation trails, even when successful, will not attract tourist hordes in the same way as Main St., Minden. These riders consider the 40 - 50 figure ideal if the trail is to stay anything near pristine.

Their next task in the Haliburton Highlands will be to survey the 56-mile-long Victoria Railway line from Lindsay to the village of Haliburton. Sue Bennett believes the railway bed is ideal for horses in its present condition.

Snowmobilers and ATC riders are also eyeing the route and the Haliburton County Snowmobilers Association has already begun to negotiate with the provincial government and the C.N.R. for its transfer. Markers are now in place identifying it as a snowmobile route.

The trail riders see no reason why the railway bed cannot serve all of these groups as an "all-purpose recreation trail". In their continuing talks with the Ministry of Natural Resources they plan to emphasise more than ever the all-purposeness of trails regardless of where they are.

Like the Nesbitt Trail, the Victoria Railway will need regular maintenance and the financing of this is a detail yet to be worked out. Meanwhile the government should acquire the property without delay, Jim Blow pointed out. "Once the C.N.R. sells the bed to the adjacent landowners, that will be it for any recreation trail".

there are some 750,000 horses in Ontario. The statistic holds considerable amazement even for him. "Ontario has the highest number of horses of any province, even more than Alberta - which is amazing to consider. Not only that, there are more horses today than there were a hundred years ago."

A large number of Ontario's horses are found in the Great Pine Ridge area stretching from Trenton to Palgrave, 35 km north of Brampton. A 200 mile long trail, located there, the Great Pine Trail, has become OTRA's biggest success to date. A given section of that trail will often see 40 - 50 riders each day.

month riding a 520-mile long trail that took her from the northern Ottawa River to Georgetown near Toronto, via Algonquin Park and the towns of Whitney and Stirling.

OTRA members hope eventually to establish huge province-spanning trails, what one member calls "the equine Bruce Trail". In fact, at only four hundred miles, the popular hiking trail on the Niagara Escarpment would be dwarfed in size by the riders' network.

Jim Blow explained that if 1/2 mile of trail is allotted for each recreational horse in Ontario, a full 12,500 miles of trails would be needed. In all, he estimates corridor and kept with the corridor's rough service road from there on. They made a base camp on Little Otter Lake for the first night and then moved on to Little Millward Lake. During the next six days, they rode up Anson Mountain and along the Nesbitt Trail as far north as Anson Creek.

The riders forded the river rather than use the bridge already there, the unsuitability of which was made worse by a wasps nest. The describe the overall condition of the trail as "fantastic", rocky and continuously of riding trails. Mapping is one of these - the standard 1:50,000 topographical map does not even show the route. A snowmobiler's map published by the HCSA shows the Nesbitt Trail clearly but hardly any lakes or other landmarks. The riders made do by combining these maps with a third authority, the "Tapestry" map series usually used as a souvenir.

A superior guide map will be needed. In the interim, Mrs. Bennett noted, users can refer to trail markers put up by the Haliburton County Snowmobilers Horseplay.

- Ontario Hydro does not apply herbicides from the air in Georgian Bay, rather it is applied selectively to individual species of brush which can grow tall enough to reach electrical conductors. Low growing shrubs, grasses, bushes, ferns etc. are left on the right-of-way and encouraged to develop, compete with and resist the invasion of unwanted brush. This approach minimizes maintenance and reduces the amount of herbicide required. This technique of selective spraying was advocated by Rachel Carson in her 1961 book "Silent Spring".

All our vegetation programs are carried out using approved, bio-degradable, herbicides which allow the right-of-way to develop a stable cover of compatible growth and offer no risk to the public or to the environment.

I would like to congratulate your reporter for his fine article and pictures for Camp Victoria - a camp for learning disabled children in Haliburton County.

There is one inaccuracy in the article what I feel is imperative to be clarified. The camp receives a grant through the Ministry of Education for salaries of counsellors only.

All operating costs - supplies, Red Cross instructors, bussing, training workshops and field trips are borne by the Haliburton County Association for Children With Learning Disabilities.

The Association is small - and has no fund raising activities. Their money comes directly from the generous charitable organizations, church groups and individuals within our very own community who believe in the value of extra-curricular remediation of learning disabled children.

Were it not for the loving generosity of the citizens of Minden and Haliburton these very special children would have no opportunity for a fun-filled summer while having some of their social, emotional, developmental and educational needs met.

Thank you Minden and Haliburton from Camp Victoria Children and the Haliburton County Association for Children With Learning Disabilities!

This, too, is a well-researched interesting history of many area pioneers.

The United Nations has declared 1986 as the International Year of Peace. No doubt in every country there are many individuals and groups who sincerely believe that war and/or its preparation will never really provide peace. Recognizing, therefore, the futility of modern war efforts, they will continue to strive for peace, long after this year has passed.

One such group is Gandhi In Action International. This group is committed to universal brotherhood, peace and social justice. Its co-ordinator is "A.B." Bhardwaj who is actually planning to visit our area within a few days. Each time I have been to India, I have resided with this remarkably fine man and his family in New Delhi.

From June 12 to July 3 the "People's March for a Non-Violent Society" took place in Italy, France and Switzerland. The march terminated at the top of Mount Rose - the second highest peak in the Alps - with about one hundred persons from various countries being involved. A.B. arranged a delegation of 28 persons from India to attend this event. This delegation presented a memorandum re peace to Pope Paul at the Vatican and the U.N.O. Secretary General in Geneva.

Nobody in his/her right mind wants war. Each of us in our own way must work for peace. Whatever our thoughts are toward war and peace, I believe that neither will occur without determined efforts in either direction. As the Gandhi in Action International group has its approach to moving people of the world toward a non-violent society, our local H.A.V.E. Committee and its many supporters are active in a very real aspect of peace through establishing understanding links between rural Canadians and needy villagers in the Third World. Words and tears are, however, not enough. More and more we can see and understand the persistent reasons for conflicts in our world. Still we need not resign to such a cliché as "Wars will always be with us." Available to us is the opportunity to express our concern and compassion for those in special need. Each of us alone and together can take action.

On July 2, I returned from a two month trip to the Indian sub-continent where I visited developmental projects in Nepal, Bangladesh and India for World Concern Canada as well as HAVE's water projects in India. I was very delighted to see how these projects are not just assisting people in their struggle against debilitating adversities, but they are also serving as real bridges for understanding and peace across our world. In particular, I am very pleased to report that HAVE's 20 bore wells in 17 villages near Bangalore and Hyderabad and the water pipe line project near Mussoorie are all performing quite satisfactorily. My only regret is that those who are contributing to the establishment and success of HAVE's water projects were not present with me to see and feel the joy and appreciation of the villagers.

Anyone who is interested in meeting A.B. and who wishes to discuss HAVE's projects in India should contact me by phone 286-1647. Charity and peace are inseparable whether at home or further afield. Through pulling together in peaceful efforts, peace - individually and collectively - will be achieved.

I'll be the first to admit, there are lots of things I don't know. Some questions that come to mind are:-

Why isn't there a sign on Hwy. 35 pointing to the Wild Water preserve? Isn't it a unique tourist attraction? Shouldn't we share it?

Why does no lead gasoline cost 3¢ to 6¢ more per litre than gas with lead? Can I sell no lead? Would oil companies pay me for it?

Why do some athletes, playing in Canada for Canadian teams get paid in U.S. funds? Will this spread to other areas? It would be nice to see our dollar rise above the U.S. Would they still want U.S. paydays then?

Why does pop cost more per litre than gasoline? Why does a country with huge oil deposits, Mexico and Venezuela for two, borrow so much money? I hope I never find oil. I can't afford it either!

Why do Canadian newspapers and TV quote prices in U.S. funds?

Why hasn't gasoline prices come down at the pumps to reflect current crude prices? This is pretty much what we were paying before world prices dropped.

Why are there no letters in the major papers about what the oil companies are doing?

Why don't we see more of the cheerleaders on televised CFL games?

Editor:

The Federation of Ontario Cottagers (FOCA) was credited in an article last week with mounting the advertising campaign to tell American visitors how we Canadians feel about acid rain. The campaign is a Canadian Coalition on Acid Rain initiative and FOCA as a member group, fully supports the program.

The advertisements are aimed primarily at the over 700 thousand American fishermen who visit our province annually and the hundreds of thousands of American tourists expected this summer. We believe that Americans care about acid rain. Certainly many American cottagers have been extremely effective in cottage-area associations in anti-acid rain projects, notably The American Friends of Muskoka.

The figures are startling: the acid sensitivity of a lake is measured on a scale of 1 to 5 with 1 being acidified.

- 35% of the lakes in Parry Sound District,

- 85% of the lakes in Manitoulin District, and

- 36% of the lakes in Muskoka District.....are rated 1 and 2!

The unfortunate fact is that 50% of the acid deposition in these areas originates from the U.S.

There is a difference between feelings of concern and a commitment to action. If Canadians and Americans can co-operate to make their desires for pollution controls known directly and forcefully to state and federal governments, real progress toward emission reductions could result.

In December 1985, The Ontario government issued comprehensive regulations to reduce the province's sulphur dioxide emission levels by 67% in 1994.

Tougher motor vehicle emission standards have been passed by the Canadian Government to reduce the nitrogen oxide emissions. These programs should result in an approximate 20% reduction of acid deposition in cottage country. There is a bill before the U.S. Congress that, if approved would reduce the U.S. - origin acid deposition by 37% ... a total of 57% less acid in our rain ... something we have been fighting and praying for, for years.

If you are American, you are encouraged to contact your congressmen and urge them to support the Acid Rain Control Bill HR 4567 which will help protect your beautiful country and ours from the scourge of acid rain.

A special thank-you to radio stations that have donated air space for this campaign and realtors Johnston and Daniel for picking up the rest of the tab.

Rejeanne S. Anthon,

times as well, but with little in the way of changes to the fluctuation of water levels on the lakes.

Jamieson did report to the group that three incidents of vandalism had been reported at the Hawk Lake dams. He said that someone had cut through the chain holding the logs and inserted them in the dam, resulting in a sharp drop in the levels of water in Hall's Lake, immediately downstream. The incidents have occurred on three occasions, he told the meeting and the authorities have been alerted.

Reeve attends

Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis, was also in attendance to address the meeting. He answered a number of questions posed by the members. Davis told the gathering that the township was seeking a new site for the dump at Hall's Lake but was having trouble finding a suitable location.

The reeve also told the gathering that the municipality would be pleased to pave the Stanhope airport runway if the federal government would be willing to contribute to the construction costs. He noted that the province has agreed to provide 80% of the funding, but the township could not afford the remaining 20% and would have to await federal financial participation before proceeding.

The members were told that the water quality in Hall's Lake has not changed and that it continues to be excellent. Bill Jamieson said the clarity of Hall's Lake tests to 25 feet. Tests were not carried out on the Hawks.

The meeting was also told that the septic systems on Hall's Lake will be surveyed this year by the Ministry of Environment. This is part of an ongoing testing program designed to identify potential polluters or deficient systems adjacent to area lakes. Property owners on the Hawk lakes asked how they might get their systems surveyed. The MOE spokesman said the best way for the property owners to be included in the next survey is to make the ministry aware of their interest in the program.

The meeting also heard from Elaine Burbidge who, with the outgoing association president, Fred Gardener, had been instrumental in presenting evidence at an Ontario Municipal Board hearing, which saw a proposal to build a trailer park on Hall's Lake defeated. Burbidge said she is willing to assist other groups facing similar challenges and noted that she had gained a great deal of experience in the process. Drawing a round of applause from the audience, she quoted her lawyer in saying how refreshing it was to live in a country where one can object, without fear, to the actions of government and win.

Burbidge also appealed to the members for financial support for their efforts. Noting that the legal fight had cost $30,000, she told the group that they only had raised $17,000 so far.

Before the meeting closed, the membership agreed to make a contribution of $300 to the Canadian Coalition Against Acid Rain.

The new executive for the association includes: president Jack Perkins, vice-president Dave Bulford; treasurer Charlie Robinson; secretary Marg Darling; past president Fred Gardener and directors Joan Chisholm, Cathy Otto, Bill Jamieson, Don Mason, Elaine Burbidge and Bill Heinz.

from the chamber

by Shawn Hagerman

I have been away for the last few weeks, on holidays. I was south to Orlando, Florida for the Million Dollar Round Table Convention, and later the following week attended the Mutual Life Convention in Lake of The Ozarks, Missouri. I always find it interesting to travel each year and become a tourist. It gives one a clear perspective of the needs of the tourist and it also reinforces my own personal opinion. I have yet to travel to any tourist area that is as unique or has as much to offer as the Haliburton Highlands.

While I was away, our office secretary Lorna Hicks took a position elsewhere and left as of the beginning of July. We wish her well in her new job and all Chamber members should be thankful for the great effort she has put in, over the last several years.

This summer Shirley is being very ably assisted by the COTA Travel Councilors, Kim Elias and Nicole Kanters. By all appearances it seems that we are having a great summer for tourism. Lodges and resorts are very heavily booked with only a few openings here and there. If you or a friend have need of accommodation please call the Chamber office as they are kept up to date daily of any vacancies.

The Chamber of Commerce Membership Directory came out in June. I think this directory is a big improvement over last year's. Its design and usable format should be of great help to all our members.

In the outlay on the back page for the membership roster there were two members who were inadvertently missed. Our sincere apologies to the Waffle's of Bonnie View Lodge and Paul Brown Electric both of Haliburton. These members are in good standing with our Chamber and we sincerely regret any inconveniences that this omission may have caused.

Fence on beach causes controversy

A beach at the end of Twelve Mile Lake that has been used by the public for the last 30 years is being claimed as private land by an area resident, Elizabeth Ackerblade.

"That land was left in my mother's estate when she died last March and we've been building a fence around it to establish our claim." A path has been left at the edge of the Peterson Road property so that people can continue to swim at the beach.

Bev Miller, clerk treasurer of Anson, Hindon and Minden, points out that the municipality has not yet accepted Mrs. Ackerblade's claim: "Nothing is certain until the survey is completed. It's all a very murky issue and we can't make a move until we know the results."

The survey, which is being paid for by the Ackerblades, will be finished some time next week, Mr. Ackerblade said.

"That beach property was bought by my grandfather in 1915," Mrs. Ackerblade explained. "He left it to my mother and since she died we've been clearing up her estate. We just want to establish once and for all whose property it is."

She said their efforts, particularly the fencing off of the land, has caused considerable controversy among surrounding cottagers and people who have been using the beach.

The controversial fence surround the beach area at 12 Mile Lake. The property has been used by the public for the last thirty years.

Bruce sees it all at Ingoldsby dump

The approach to Ingoldsby dump is a winding and bumpy one and it wouldn't take many trips up this road to demolish even the toughest automobile. But as you emerge from the trees, you notice first, when your eyes become accustomed to the haze, that there are no car wrecks in among the smouldering heaps of rubbish. Bruce Nesbitt doesn't permit it. He's got separate piles for each of brush, household rubbish, and old appliances - but nothing for cars.

As the dump proprietor for the past six years, Nesbitt has been doing everything in his power to see that there's nothing untidy about his municipal disposal site. From his shack on the edge of the lot, he can see everything that goes on and everybody who comes up the road, and he isn't afraid to lay down the law.

"Just like the old song, Casey, Lower the Boom, that's what I do. I don't hold spite for anyone - life's too short for that. But, like my old Dad used to say, 'If you can't walk away from trouble, walk right back in and get it over with.'"

Suddenly Nesbitt stiffens and peers out the door of his shack. Someone is unloading his truck into the pile of brush.

"If he's got scrap in that mess, there'll be war upon the land," threatens the watchful overseer, but he sits back down when the driver promises there's nothing in his load that shouldn't be.

"I believe in living the Christian life and being honest with everybody, and I like the other guy to be honest too. Take a man at face value at first anyway, trust him. But I don't believe in being kicked two or three times in the same place, that's for sure."

Nesbitt is inclined to take a philosophical view of things. After all, he's been around for some time, almost 68 years.

"I was born November 3, 1918 and I went to the Bethel School (on the Bethel Church Road off Highway 121). I quit in the fall of 1933 and went to work before the age of 15 for Isaac Schnell, but had to leave when they discovered my age.

"The second of January, 1934, I started another job building construction camps on Highway 121 for workers who were building the road."

And so began a long and hard career that has taken Nesbitt through logging camps and construction sites across Haliburton County. "It's been a hard life, but a good one.

"I've raised five kids here and we've all done pretty well. I wouldn't want to go back to the old days - those old cross cut saws were hard to take. You got up in the early morning and you didn't quit until it was dark.

"But it was honest. Anything that's honest is good as far as I'm concerned and there's no place for dishonesty in this world."

Nesbitt's job at the Ingoldsby dump gives him the opportunity to keep up with what's going on in the county. People are always coming and going, he says, and it's much a disposal site as it is a trading centre. Sometimes they have perfectly good refrigerators or lawn mowers and come to the dump because they can't think of anything else to do with them.

And sometimes people come with just the news which Nesbitt is also happy to get. From his shack at the edge of the dump he has a clear view of the county - the perspective is a unique one but probably just as true as what the Warden can see from his window at the county chambers.

"I like the development that's been going on for the last few years, I think it's good for everybody. Anything in the line of real progress, I'm for."

Nesbitt believes most people in the county hold the same regard for the Christian virtues that he does. "I don't know about the younger generation, I wouldn't commit myself there. But I do know about the older people who I've dealt with, and I've dealt with most of them.

"I like people to start with - I argue like a beggar because I believe issues should be got out into the open - but I think the general run of public are pretty fair." And after all those years of working in the county, he should know.

Shufflers prepare for opening of new courts

After a year of hoping and planning, the new Minden Seniors Shuffleboard Club, with a board of ten directors, (all 55 years of age or over), is planning the opening ceremonies for August 6 at 2 p.m.

Following approval and a place to build, given by the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden, a grant of $15,000 from New Horizons made the dream a reality.

President Bill Ingram led the way. Without his drive and determination, the courts would, not be ready for August 6. With only part of the summer remaining, it has been decided not to start tournament play until the 1987 season. We hope to use 1986 as a time for instruction for beginners and players and to practice some of the finer points of the game. There are some beginners on our Board of Directors, as well as some good shufflers.

We also have the gold shuffleboard winners of the 1985 and 1986 Ontario Adult Games. They are more than willing to help anyone who wishes to learn the game.

It is not difficult to learn, but it is a lot of fun, a good form of mild exercise and a very friendly game.

Our money raising activities include a euchre game in the Common Room each Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

A raffle for a lovely afghan made and donated by Eleanor Pye.

Euchre counters made and donated by Marian and Bill Ingram.

The official opening will be on Wednesday, August 6 at 2 p.m. We hope anyone interested in seeing or trying the courts will come along and help us celebrate. The courts are situated beside the tennis courts on Prentice Street in Minden.

Hustlers end season at top of league

The Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers won the league championship in convincing style as they pounded Lindsay Kent Tavern Thursday night by the score of 10-0.

Jack Snell was on the mound tossing a two hitter and striking out seven for the win to raise his record to 8-1 for the season. Dave Hartwick had a big night at the plate with a double and two singles. Rick Hartwick and Colin and Greg Newell each had two hits for the winners.

The Hustlers will now meet Lindsay Town Rent-all in the first round of the playoffs beginning Thursday night, July 31 in Minden at 8:00 p.m.

This is a best three out of five series with the second game being in Lindsay on Tuesday, August 5 at 8:00 p.m. The third game back in Minden on Thursday, August 7, 8:00 p.m.

The other end of the Tri-County Championship Playoff Series features Lindsay Pizza Hut versus Bobcaygeon. The two winners will meet for the championship.

Trent-Severn waterways

Dry conditions have settled in over the watersheds that comprise the canal system. Losses to evaporation have become considerable and declines are being felt on all the lakes.

On Monday, July 21 the Haliburton Lakes averaged 80.4% of their full levels, which was a drop of only 3.4% from the week before. The reduced decline resulted from reductions in the flow from the tributaries (Gull, Burnt, Mississauga, Eels, etc.) done late last week.

The lower inflow to the Kawartha and matching cuts to the outflow still saw a decline begin on the Kawar-tha. Those which had shown a surplus early in the week were slipping back as the present week (beginning July 20) came to an end.

It is likely that, in spite of the rain forecast for today (Friday, July 25), a larger reservoir flow will be required next week.

Busy day at Stanhope Fun Day

Once again the annual Stanhope Fun Day was a massive success with people coming from across the county and beyond to take part in the festivities. The sun shone down as crowds gaily consumed hamburgers, played bingo and watched a display staged by the Upper Canada Rifles.

Young Jenny Hogg won the Lion's Club Munchie draw and was presented with her prize, a fluffy Munchie, by Stanhope councillor Ann Barker.

Bingo games were held in earnest beneath a tent at the back of the fair grounds and a dog show attracted considerable interest at the main square.

In the fire hall, the Stanhope fire department held an open house and invited the public to look over their brightly polished equipment and trucks.

One highlight of the day was Haliburton Legion piper Earl Cooper's rendition of Amazing Grace and other classic tunes as he marched back and forth in front of the crowd at the municipal hall.

The festivities began at ten o'clock on Saturday morning and continued until four in the afternoon.

Stage set for fifteenth Heineken Yard foot race

The annual Heineken Yard is set to go once again for the fifteenth year. Inaugurated way back in 1972, the race has grown to become one of the premier events on the province's summer race calendar, attracting over 400 runners from throughout Ontario and neighbouring U.S. states.

The event traditionally starts with a gun blast at 4:30 sharp and will do so again this Friday. From the Onondaga Camp gate the course winds over 4.6 miles of rolling rural terrain finishing in Minden with an exciting sprint down Main Street to the Rockcliffe Tavern.

Over the years, the Heineken Yard has seen a variety of competitors looking for a moderate competitive distance that nicely complements a relaxed summer training schedule. Although the race draws renowned elite competitors from Ontario (e.g. John Craig, Sue French and Greg Lockhart) and beyond, and winning times are impressive with 4.7 minute miles setting the pace, the recreational runner is never overlooked in this friendly competition.

This year marks the 15th annual running of the Yard, establishing this event as one of the oldest continuing fixtures in Ontario. 1986 also marks the 20th Anniversary of AMICI, the charitable foundation which organizes the race to support needy youngsters at summer camps throughout the province. AMICI was founded in 1966 by men and women who had enjoyed the enriching experience of summer camps as campers and staff members. It remains AMICI's aim to provide the same opportunity to children who would not otherwise know what it's like to enjoy healthy fun, friendship, and learning in the natural outdoor setting at Ontario's summer camps.

Because 1986 marks special anniversaries for both the Heineken Yard and AMICI, the organizers have established three new team trophies for club, corporate and summer camp teams. Such teams can challenge others for, respectively, the Heineken Cup, the Amstel Cup, and the AMICI Cup.

AMICI extends a warm invitation to all the Yard's old friends, urging them to take part in the 15th annual edition. Moreover, all runners are welcome to come to Minden on Friday, August 1, and get a "running start" on the Civic Holiday Weekend at the Heineken Yard.

Try Canada's National Parks this summer

The good old summertime is here and living is easy! How about a trip to one of Canada's national parks or heritage sites where you can sometimes participate in living history, such as trying-on military uniforms at Fort Malden, near Amherstburg, or attend various holiday celebrations at Woodside in Kitchener, where costumed interpreters will show you William Lyon MacKenzie's boyhood home and its rich range of furnishings.

For nature enthusiasts, a visit to Point Pelee National Park near Leamington is a must. The park, located at the same latitude as Northern California, is a fascinating blend of marsh forest, fields and beach. Cacti and exotic waterfowl, usually only found in warmer climates, are a feature of this beautiful park. In the fall, the southward migration of birds and monarch butterflies attracts naturalists from around the world.

Some parks can only be reached by boat. Georgian Bay Islands National Park, on the doorsteps of Muskoka, is composed of 77 islands scattered along the Georgian Bay coastline. It has facilities for docking, swimming and picnicking, as well as camping.

A true wilderness park is Pukaskwa National Park which comprises some 1,878 km² of the northern coastline of Lake Superior. Motorized vehicles are not permitted within the park interior. Visitors are asked to leave their cars at the park entrance at Hattie Cove, 25 km northwest of Marathon. This "wild shore of an inland sea" can then be discovered by hiking, canoeing, boating and camping.

There are many other, interesting, sites among the 69 historic parks operated by Parks Canada under the direction of the Minister of the Environment.

For information on this or any other topic call your Haliburton County Information Centre at 457-2733, or drop in to our office at the Drag River Municipal Building in Haliburton. Have a good summer!

THEY HOLD DOWN MORE THAN ONE JOB.

Kubota's mid-sized tractors are very versatile. You'll find them at work on farms, in parks, nurseries, estate homes and even on construction sites. The reason is simple. Our L-Series tractors come with features you'd expect to find only on bigger, heavier machines. For example, 3-, 4-, or 5-cylinder diesel engines with PTO horsepower from 21 to 40.

Other features you can select include 8x7 or 8x8 mechanical or hydraulic shuttle-shift. A choice of 2- or 4-wheel drive on most models. A hefty 3-point hitch. And more.

So if you're looking for a tractor that can get the job done, whatever it is, you've found it. The Kubota L-Series.

Farmers tour southern Ontario feedlots

This year's bus trip sponsored by the Victoria County Cattlemen's Association toured around Lake Ontario. Forty-six beef producers from the County spent three days on this informative and enjoyable tour.

The first day was spent travelling from Lindsay to Niagara Falls visiting farms and points of interest in the Hamilton and Niagara area.

The ration being fed in the deJong Brothers' feedlot at St. Ann's was of special interest, in that they were feeding several ingredients not heard of in Victoria County. Seeing kiwi fruit growing at the Horticultural Station at Vineland and learning about grape production from researching new varieties to marketing the final product was also of interest.

On the second day the group travelled across the northern counties of New York State and included visits to several beef farms. The prevalence of New Zealand style fencing using high tensile wire, some of which was electrified, was noted, along with the rotational grazing of pasture fields with impressive production of pounds per acre. Watertown, New York, was the destination that night.

The third day of the tour started with a visit to the Lucky Star Ranch which, along with beef cattle, has the largest herd of European Fallow Deer in North America. Close to 1500 head are raised, providing venison for the restaurant trade in New York City. While the deer are contained by thirteen strand page wire fencing, the manager indicated that there was more problem with the deer going under the fence than over it.

The tour continued on the third day through Kingston to Picton and Belleville before arriving home in Lindsay that evening.

Tour participants were surprised at the amount of low, poorly drained, clay soil in to New York State. With the amount of rain which has been experienced in that area this summer, many crops were considerably behind those in Victoria County.

Marketing beef cattle so that they might make some money, was a concern on each farm visited. Marketing techniques varied considerably between farms - while one farm marketed quality steer calves to 4-H members for project animals, another one marketed quality breeding stock with performance testing and another one took advantage of an excellent local freezer trade.

This trip gave the participating cattlemen an opportunity to see new points of interest and gain some new ideas which might help make their home farm operation more efficient, as well as giving them a chance to get away from home for a few days.

Floral music will fill community centre

"Floral Symphony" is the theme chosen for this year's Annual Show, sponsored by the Minden & District Horticultural Society being held August 7 & 8 in the Minden Community Auditorium.

This is the highlight of the Horticulture year and a great deal of planning goes into it.

It is a time when members compete for prizes and the competition increases each year. It is not too late to join - and to bring your best flowers - and vegetables for this show.

As well as many individual floral specimens there are the many decorative classes. This is a chance to use your imagination to the fullest to create the many and interesting floral arrangements.

The official opening on Thursday evening, it is hoped will achieve a new flavour - in keeping with our theme "Floral Symphony". Decorations will also blend in with theme.

There will also be the "Coffee, Tea, juice and goodies garden", a place to relax, refresh and reflect.

The Junior Gardeners are not to be forgotten. This is the time when their Garden Plots will be judged. They too will be competing for Flower & Vegetable Prizes at the Show.

Rivalry is the word! - and here we see it in action. So reserve time on August 7 & 8 and come to the Show of the Year - and by supporting the Society you are at the same time saying thank you for beautifying our community!

Local firefighters assist at forest fire in Inuvik, NWT

A fire foreman and a crew of five firefighters from the Village of Haliburton came home last night after trying to put out a big forest fire near the town of Inuvik in the Northwest Territories for more than two weeks.

The men were part of a detachment of four crews and seven supervisors sent by the Algonquin Region

Fire Centre at the request of the Canadian Interagency Forest Fire Centre in Winnipeg.

"The fire was really too big to put out, so we were attempting to control it and to protect things of value like communications towers," said Jerry Drysdale, duty officer at the Algonquin Region Fire Centre in Huntsville.

"The men are looking forward to returning," Drysdale went on. "When they left, the temperature up there was warm, but in the last few days it's become a lot colder and some of them are wishing they'd brought their parkas."

He explained that there is no serious threat of forest fire in the region so it was decided the men could be spared when the request for manpower came. So far this year, crews from Ontario have been sent to fight fires in New Brunswick and Newfoundland. Two years ago, Ontario firefighters helped to put out forest blazes in British Columbia during a particularly bad summer.

The Canadian Interagency Forest Fire Centre was set up in the last four years by both the Federal and Provincial governments of the country as a way of co-ordinating forest fire fighting efforts. When provinces experience fires, they are unable to deal with, they contact the Interagency Forest Fire Centre. The Fire Centre then requests aid from those provinces or regions that can spare the men.

Summer first aid tips

At the first sign of sunburn, prevent further exposure to the sun. Get indoors or into shade. Minor sunburns can be treated with soothing water - a cool soak or a wet towel. Use prescription or commercial sunburn lotions when the pain is relieved. If the burn is severe, immerse in cool water. Cover the burn area with a clean cloth and obtain medical aid.

Bee and wasp stings can be fatal. If the victim shows signs of allergic reaction (swelling around the eyes and mouth, hives, severe nausea and difficulty in breathing) seek medical aid immediately. Start artificial respiration if necessary and take precautions to prevent shock (reassure victim, keep warm).

If there is no allergic reaction to the sting, remove the stinger by using tweezers. Remove the stinger by depressing the skin around the puncture. Avoid squeezing it. Antihistamine creams, rubbing alcohol, a weak ammonia solution or a solution of bicarbonate of soda may be applied immediately. If the sting is in the mouth, give a mouthwash of 1 teaspoon of bicarbonate of soda to a glass of water. If there is much swelling, place the victim on his side and give him ice to suck. Obtain medical aid.

All that was left of the Johnson home was a tangled, twisted mass of smouldering ruins. The fire was reported early Saturday morning following a severe thunderstorm. Lightning is believed to have been responsible for the blaze which left six people homeless.

Interest rates drop

- by Bill Scott, MP -

Interest rates have fallen significantly since the election of a Progressive Conservative government in September 1984. For the first time since 1978, the prime rate is in single digits.

business transfer tax, we have concluded that further consideration needs to be given to the linkages between the three major elements of the federal tax system and the overall thrust carefully at all the elements of the federal tax system.

Mr. Wilson has therefore instructed his officials to examine broader options for a more comprehensive reform of the federal tax system, including a business transfer tax as a replacement for the federal sales tax, and to report back to him in the autumn.

Continued reform of the tax system is both a major challenge and opportunity for Canadians. The government is determined to move forward in a careful and co-ordinated way to ensure that the tax system is made less complex wherever possible and is structured so that the burdens are shared in an equitable manner.

In developing our options for reform, we must also ensure that our tax system provides a strong and positive framework for economic growth and the expansion of job opportunities for Canadians.

Finance Minister Michael Wilson has announced the government's intention to proceed with a review of options for comprehensive tax reform.

During the past two years, we have made important progress in restructuring the corporate income tax, introducing a minimum tax and eliminating many tax expenditures. A principal objective in these changes to date is to broaden the tax base in order to get tax rates down.

We must also restore a healthier balance among the personal, corporate and sales tax and, specifically, reverse the trend which has resulted in greater reliance on personal income taxes.

In considering the work of tax reform in Canada. The balance among personal, corporate and sales taxes in funding government programs needs to be assessed together with structural reform to each system. Moreover, since the budget in February, the pace of comprehensive tax reform in the United States has accelerated. While the final shape of changes to the U.S. tax system is not yet clear, what is clear is that the changes will be extensive and will come into effect at an early date. These developments bear a close relationship to the tax issues we are facing in Canada and we must ensure that Canada maintains a tax system that is competitive with that of the United States. This

Dwain Wruth - still farming with horses

When Dwain Wruth's great grandfather settled in Haliburton County around about 1870, there wasn't much a man could do without at least one good team of horses. They pulled wagons, plows, sleighs, stone boats, stumps, and just about everything else a person might want to wrap a rope around. They were indispensable as transportation - few places can't be got to on a strong beast - and in a pinch, you could eat them.

Dwain's ancestor used his horses for hauling logs out of the bush. "He came for the pines," says Wruth, referring to the huge stands of conifers that covered much of the county in those days. Attracted by the thriving lumber industry, he spent winters in the forest pulling the felled logs to the saw mills, and in the summers he worked his land, just outside the village of Lochlin.

The farm was a sideline in the early days but as the lumber industry dwindled in the first half of the century, it became a livelihood for the Wruth family. And through all those years, says Wruth, there've been horses on the farm.

"In 1970 we got our first tractor but before that we did everything with the horses, and even now when the engine isn't working I just harness up the team and go to work."

Wruth has three horses at present, two mares both under ten years old, and a colt. They're all Belgians, because that breed is best suited to heavy farm work and also because the Wruths have always raised them.

The three horses spend most of the summer in the pasture, temporarily unemployed while Wruth reluctantly uses machines to cultivate his land.

"With two good teams you can cut about 12 acres of hay a day - the same as a tractor. Horses will do just as well on most field work, except bailing where you have to run the machine off a tractor.

"The problem is the time it takes to get a team hitched up - I can get half my work done with a tractor in the time it takes to get my team ready.

"What I really miss about the old days is taking a full hour for lunch and another for dinner. You see horses have to eat too and also we had to stop and let them cool down every so often."

Drawing wood

As soon as winter comes though, Wruth's team is put to work. He uses it to haul wood out of his sugar bush - he drew a hundred cords last year - and to collect the sap. Having legs instead of wheels, the team is unlikely to get stuck in the deep snow and mud and doesn't damage the smaller trees.

After a summer in the pasture the horses have a hard time at first, "but after a week of light work they're all hardened up."

Not long ago sleigh rides were also a part of the winter routine. Wruth would hitch up his team to an old sleigh and give rides to clubs and parties and anyone else who was interested. In the last couple of years though he's had to stop because of rising insurance rates. "A trip in the sleigh just isn't any fun if you know you're paying $20 for the ticket - and that's what I'd have to charge if I was going to pay for insurance."

While Wruth has to cut back on his sleigh rides, many farmers are hard put to keep their heads above water what with the state of the economy and the price of insurance. But being part of such a long farming tradition, Wruth doesn't consider the present hardships a serious threat. Mustering a wry smile he says, "if it gets too expensive to run the tractor, the horses are here and I've still got all the equipment to run my farm with a team."

LINDSAY TRAVEL

Minden Women's Institute

The ladies of Minden Womens Institute and their friends left Minden on their annual bus trip at 8 a.m. on July 22.

the weather was perfect for a visit to Cullen Gardens at Whitby and Black Creek Pioneer Village in North Toronto.

Our transportation was a lovely new bus supplied by Travelways and driven by Jack Barley.

The Gardens were beautiful and although some of us had been there before we enjoyed the miniature village and the lovely flower gardens.

A new reception area at Black Creek Village was very interesting. We were taken into a theatre where we were told the story of the Village and also saw a movie - this building had a snack bar and gift shop and there were also various displays. There are many buildings at the village which have been added since we were there before.

We had our lunch at Cullen Gardens and after dinner at the Oshawa Shopping Centre we headed north to Minden, happy with our day of sight seeing.

125 attend Minden Lake fun day

On July 19, the Minden Lake Ratepayers' Association held their second annual "Pot Luck Fun Day" on the Berry, Ducey and Tracey properties. The approximately 125 members and friends in attendance were blessed with sunny and warm weather, a bountiful, varied meal and an enjoyable day of activities and friendship.

The day began with a Northside against Southside baseball game at 1:00 p.m. which proved to be a very popular event. The Northside Blue Jays, after being behind 13-5, won the game 14-13 in the last inning. The Southside Expos have vowed to overturn this next year, with the selection of a neutral umpire who can count.

During the day, the Northside of the lake continually challenged the Southside. The Northside were the winners of the children's tug-of-war, while the Southside adults reversed last year's decision, thanks to anchorman Jim Bell, by defeating the Northside in a hard fought battle.

After several close elimination games, the Horseshoe pitching prizes were awarded to Elsie Baker and Eva Domirovic (Northside) and Jim Bell and Bern Berry (Southside).

The Egg Toss event, although a bit messy, was very exciting. It was surprising how an egg could bounce on the grass and not break. Michael Hunt and Wesley VanderValk were the victors, with Jeff VanderValk and Paul Schaffner second.

Christopher Newton and Ryan Galli pedalled the quickest in the 1st heat of the Pedal Boat event. The object of the race was to pedal to the other side of the lake, retrieve a stone from shore, get back into the boat and pedal back to the start, get out of the boat and put the rock in a pail on a picnic table. Some contestants really improvised, which made the event chaotic. Winners of the 2nd heat were Jessica Rizzi and Natalie Haden.

Several heats were held in the noisy and entertaining Minnow Race. Race Finals were run and Race No. 1 saw Christa Mann's minnow Breeze come 1st and Stephen Tozer's Speedy No. 2 came second. Jeff VanderValk's minnow Finney won

Due to the fantastic business community support in the Minden Area and contacts of executive members in the Toronto area, several draw prizes were awarded at the end of the day's events, including several sets of Blue Jay tickets.

What is a Farmer?

Today's farmer is a paradox, he is
An executive with home as his office.
A labourer digging fence post holes.
A dietician with a passion for alfalfa, amino acids and antibiotics.
An engineering genius fixing machinery.
A scientist using fertilizer attachments.
A purchasing agent in an old straw hat.
A production expert with a grain shipping problem.
A personnel director with grease under his fingers.
A manager tackling a cost-price squeeze.
In short, a specialist yet a "Jack of all trades".
He likes plenty of food and dinner at noon.
He likes auctions and fairs, drives miles to get there.
Gives him a chance to have a nice chat with that neighbour from the farm next to his.
He likes sunshine and rain if not too much or too little.
As long as it comes on the days he has chosen.
He's not sold on drought, scullys, weeds, eight-hour days, daylight savings time, grasshoppers or helping with housework.
Farmers are found in fields:
Plowing up, seeding down, rotating around, planting in, fertilized on, spraying for and harvesting from.
Wives help them
Little boys follow them
City relatives visit them.
Salesmen detain them or wait for them
Weather can delay them
but only HEAVEN CAN STOP THEM.

Wedding. Needless to say, I haven't missed one yet.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Lodi Mestroni and Raymond Greenridge. We were mistaken last week on the last name and apologise for any embarrassment or inconvenience caused.

Last Tuesday, a good crowd enjoyed the Minden Rotary Bingo. There was a tie for the Nevada hat and the winning ladies were June Hughes and Alice Sedgewick. In the winner-take-all, the names were Hilda Harrison, Shirley Stamp, Sally Bonner and Flo Somerton. The Losers' game winner was Marg Harper and the final game, a full card for $66 was won by Jean McKelvey and Jerry Bathekson.

Drake Jopling, who is just eleven, had a pleasant surprise when he caught a 22", 4 lb trout while visiting his grandparents Helen and Frank Gray of Mountain Lake. His sister Lindsay also visited as well.

Sid Brown retires from Hyland Crest

Sidney Brown formally retired from his position as administrator of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home on July 14.

Mr. Brown started at Hyland Crest in 1966 when he was hired as supervisor of maintenance just before the home officially opened. He remained at that position until 1976 when he was appointed by County Council as administrator.

Originally from Chatham, Ontario, Mr. Brown joined the Canadian Navy after leaving school, he served as a seaman/gunner in the North Atlantic during World War II.

He met and married his wife Peggy in Halifax and after the war the Browns settled in London, Ontario. There Mr. Brown worked as an art teacher and stationary engineer.

It was at this time that he first began coming to the Highlands. Being interested in painting, he frequently came to the county on weekends so he could paint the scenery and in this way, he became familiar with the area.

On one such visit he met Mark Vasey, the chairman of the County Council Management committee in 1966. Mr. Vasey was impressed with Mr. Brown's credentials and asked him to come work at Hyland Crest.

Mr. Brown says he has very much enjoyed his years at the home and plans to return (he will be moving back to London) as often as he can.

"The residents were wonderful and the staff loving and efficient. Haliburton County is fortunate to have such an institution."

After moving to London, Mr. Brown plans to pursue his interest in art at the University of Western Ontario and to find part time employment.

Retiring administrator Sid Brown was presented with an engraved platter to mark his years of service at Hyland Crest. His wife Peggy looks on proudly as Sid displays his gift.

Guild news

by Gwyneth Hughes

One of the numerous fringe benefits in being a member of the Guild of Fine Arts is working together as members of one or two of the numerous groups in selling at the shows or in welcoming visitors to the Gallery, in meeting and talking with so many interesting people from so many parts of Canada, U.S.A. and points beyond.

During the last week of the sale for instance, one of the women volunteers at the Summer Exhibition and Sale, in talking to a visitor from B.C., discovered that she and the until then unknown visitor may have relatives in common - it's true, I heard it all!

We all enjoy the friendships we form with one another and with contacts we make but for someone to come up with a new relative is somewhat awesome. Whoever said "Don't talk to strangers" didn't have the Guild of Fine Arts in mind. Here, strangers become friends and win relatives.

The Summer Exhibition and Sale of Arts and Crafts was a tremendous success. 5,564 people attended the sale. The visitors were really enthusiastic in their praise of the quality of the crafts and the excellent way in which they were displayed. The room looked lovely.

The success of such a venture as the summer sale depends greatly upon the splendid organization which took place behind the scenes. Joan Hoag, president of the Guild of Fine Arts, wishes to thank all who helped make this year's sale the most successful we have had to date. The lovely singing of the Guild choir, the stirring music of Earl Cooper and the Legion Pipe Band, the volunteers, the crafts people, the quilters who demonstrated their workmanship and who have already completed the quilt to be raffled in 1987.

I might mention in passing that it is through this particular sale and the many other fund raising events organized by the members of the Guild of Fine Arts that we are able to continue to support the Rails' End Gallery and help bring fine art shows to the county.

There is a fine show coming to Haliburton August 2 through September 6. Original paintings and limited edition prints by wildlife artist Glen Loates will be on display. Mr. Loates will be on hand Friday, August 1 at 8:00 p.m. at the Gallery to sign copies of his book. Tickets are being presold at $7 and are available at the Gallery. The evening includes refreshments and an artist's talk. Come and enjoy a sociable evening of friendship and an opportunity to meet a talented artist.

In the meantime, we hope you are enjoying this summer with the Guild, the Rails' End Gallery and Haliburton et al.

Well Folks, nice warm weather we are having.

Our services were taken Sunday evening by Rev. J. Burgess, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and on Tuesday morning by Rev. J. Phillips of Haliburton.

We welcome Mrs. Jennings, Mrs. Burgess, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Despard to Hyland Crest. We hop they will like it here.

The movies Monday night were "A Walk in the Forest" & "Beautiful Possibilities", both were nice.

Saturday morning Lily Hogg had a visit from Hans & Linda Buehler. They took her for a nice drive and had lunch before returning. In the afternoon she had her son Taylor with his wife, niece and nephew from North Bay to visit.

On Friday Doris and Linda took us for a picnic lunch at Fenelon Falls. We visited the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vanderlip. It was a very nice outing and we do thank Roy and Marion for their hospitality. Annie Cox had several of her granddaughters visit her during the week.

On Thursay we had a very nice barbeque lunch. There were 36 residents present. The staff sure deserve a vote of thanks for the lovely food, as well as all the work entailed.

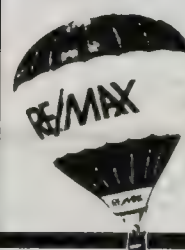

Thursday afternoon the ladies from Kennis Lake brought the Tea Party food which was delicious. Their music was enjoyed very much. Charles Brohm had his son Ed and his wife to call on him on their way home from the west.

Edna Cowan had Ray and Fern from Peterborough call and take her for a nice drive and dinner.

Carol and David Frances called on Sunday morning to see Pearl Lyle. There was some excitement Sunday morning when the fire bell rang and continued to ring a long time. It was not a drill. It was caused apparently by water in some wires.

Cliff Barry and his wife called on Pearl and Edna.

Our sympathy is extended to Charlie Brohm who had just been informed that this sister Ada Irwin has passed away.

Branch 129

- by Gerald Irish -

The Legion Dart groups who play on Monday and Wednesday nights held their annual steak barbecue on Saturday evening. Thanks to Reg Crockett for organizing it and to Jim Tice for once again being the chef. Everyone had a good time.

I hope you were able to catch the radio interviews running this week about Haliburton's Bluegrass Festival. President Joan did an interview for Huronia magazine on CHAY-FM and I was a guest on the Bob Eakins Show on Lindsay radio CKLY. The Times of Minden also did an interview with us on Monday morning for a feature report in their newspaper.

Nearly all of the Bluegrass volunteer workers were at the Bluegrass site on Monday evening. Each committee chairperson went over all aspects of the work involved with his or her segment of the operation.

During hunting season many people use 2-way radios (Walkie Talkies) to communicate with one another when on their runways. We need these instruments during the Bluegrass festival to help us cover the large camping area. If you have any, could we borrow them? Please leave them with Jim at the Branch office.

There will be no Bluegrass amateur contest on August 3. This has been cancelled because of lack of entries. There will still be an Open Stage on Saturday, August 9 at the Bluegrass Festival. Anyone can get up on stage and perform late in the afternoon of that day.

This week's 50-50 draw winner was Lloyd Whittaker who won $43.00.
